

SIT-DOWN

Rod Quantock
The Nostradamus of Comedy presents
2050AD - The Musical*

The future is here.

And it's a musical* must-see for anyone young enough to be one of the 11 billion people sharing the planet in 2050AD. And to get you in the mood for 2050AD read the following slowly:

Combs, antihistamines, fishing rods, golf balls, denture adhesives, bras, fiberglass, carpet, fishing lures, lip balm, parachutes, volleyballs, toilet seats, marine diesel fuel, cortisone, denture adhesives, balloons, toothpaste.

Now ask yourself – if you're too shy to ask yourself, ask someone to ask you for you – what do those things have in common? Come on, think!

Give in?

They are all made from one or other of the 55,000 derivatives of oil.

Now ask yourself: What won't there be a lot of in 2050AD?

Exactly!

Can you imagine a world without volley balls?! Or parachutes? Rod can.

So if you want to know what to wear in 2050AD or which genetically modified cantaloupe wins 2050 Melbourne Cup then 2050AD - The Musical* is for you.

'...revolutionary, outrageous, weird. He is a master of effortless comedy.'
