Simon Palomares My Two Boys

Success got in the way of Simon's solo shows last year when IL Dago blew out from the Melbourne Comedy Festival to a hundred and forty performances by the end of the year playing every major Australian city twice.

This year Simon returns with My Two Boys extending on the hilarious stories of his emo sons, this excellent raconteur with the sharp eye for details takes us on a journey about growing up today versus growing up in the eighties.

"What's going on? My twelve-year-old has got more friends on Myspace than I had people at my wedding!"

Guiding your kids while still growing up yourself and calling your kids for dinner on MSN.

"In one lifetime I have gone from hiding behind the shed so my parents wouldn't catch me smoking to hiding behind the shed so my kids don't catch me smoking".

After twenty years in comedy watching Simon Palomares is like being invited to his home and watching his whole family, kids, grandparents, friends and pets pass through the lounge room. A legend of Australian comedy in a personal story where the whole family can laugh at themselves... and each other.

"Simon Palomares is clever and genuinely funny" The Age

"My cheeks still hurt!" The Adelaide Advertiser
