Dave Bushell – Let The Kid Go

Dave Bushell has done some stuff in his life. You would think that he'd have learnt some lessons from that; that there would be a moral at the end of his stories, but he hasn't, and there isn't, because things just don't work like that.

From winning 'Deal Or No Deal' in an attempt to win back an ex-girlfriend, through encountering multiple flashers on a mountain in Spain, to accidentally punching a girl in the face (twice) in front of 50 people. This is 60 minutes of stories about embracing life, no matter what.

If there's a theme (and it's the Comedy Festival – so there's ALWAYS a theme) it's looking for joy in all the right (and wrong) places and creating richness in all parts of life. It's about letting the Kid out. But more than any of that, it's just piss funny.

“Charismatic & talented... never falters. Commanding, witty & innovative.” The Age

“One of the most fascinating comedians at the Festival.” The Groggy Squirrel
